ANOTHER MAIL MUDDLE

Our overland mail matter, which arrives daily at the Virginia Postoffice, a mile and a half from Gold Hill, is carried through here the next morning to Carson, and re- to their constituents, and this takes turned here in the evening. We are not growling; we are merely stating a fact, for which nobody in the Territory is to blame. An aged nincompoop, just old enough for veneration, too old for business, and not quite old enough to die of old age, is the mail agent for the Pacific States and Territories. By his orders the Gold Hill matter is put into the Carson bag, which the Virginia Postmaster has no right to open, and this arrangement deprives us of our overland mail matter for thirty hours after it is due. Interesting, ain't it?

A BOMBSHELL IN THE CAMP.

The bombshell that scattered the left wing of Jeff. Davis' army in the North, and squelched the Copperhead Convention which was to have met at Chicago on the 4th of July, has been discovered to be the speech made by Gen. McClellan, at West Point, on the 17th of June. Little Mac shot his mouth off on that occasion after a manner that convinced the rebel gang that he was a man that their lord and master, Jeff. Davis, could not rely upon with safety. They had set their traps upon the supposition that Mac was a good safe "peace Democrat;" his conduct of the peninsula campaign, and his will mention the fact. last battle of Antietam, where he might have crushed Lee and did not, being the perhaps not unreasonable ground of their to the world, they saw that either they | Presse were mistaken in the sentiments of the greatest military genius of the age, or that his sentiments had undergone a material change. He would not answer their purposes for a Presidential candidate, and have no other concerted plan of action, the whole Chicago arrangement was knocked in the head. The following extract from that speech expresses sentiments that would not do at all in a Copperhead platform :

"Rebellion against a Government like ours, which contains the means of self-adjustment and a pacific remedy for evils, should never be confounded with a revolution against despotic power, which refuses redress of wrongs. Such a rebellion cannot be justi-fied up on ethical grounds, and the only alternatives for our choice are its suppression or the destruction of our nationality. At such a time as this, and in such a struggle, political partisanship should be merged in a true and brave patriotism, which thinks only of the good of the whole country. It was in this cause and with these motives that so many of our comrades have given their lives, and to this we are all personally pledged in as that of our dead comrades be of no avail Shall it be said in after ages that we lacked the vigor to complete the work thus begun after all these noble lives, freely given, we hesitated and failed to keep straight on until our land was saved? Forbid it, heaven! and give us firmer, truer hearts than that."

If he had talked that way a year or two ago, McClellan would not have forfeited many? Wherever a people asserts a right to insult the honor of Germany, to rob Gerthe esteem of his fellow-countrymen to the extent that he has unfortunately done. It is not now too late for him to retrieve his lost reputation, and the rebuke to Copperheads contained in his West Point speech, is a long step in the right direc-

OH! BERIAH! BERIAH! - That cruel brute of a Beriah Brown still pursues his outrageous course of hard-hearted and unfeeling abuse of his friends, whenever they ory, which has carried outrage to its highest point. The English have now succeeded in lighting up a flame of hatred from one end of of the Provost Marshal. As soon as they have "outlived their usefulness," he covers them with obloquy. Hear him:

"ANOTHER OATH-BREAKER IN LIMBO .-Another prisoner has been sent to Fort Alcatraz for disregarding his oath. He was amongst those who were on board the pirate schooner Chapman, and escaped by taking the oath of allegiance. Latterly he was arrested near Fort Crook, where it is said he was recruiting for the Southern Confederacy, and robbing mails. His name, we believe, is John Poole, yet he maintains so many aliases that it would not be safe to bet that he ever had a name of his own. Nine other prison ers were sent to Alcatraz yesterday. They were, nearly all of them, deserters from the

"Limbo!" The idea of calling that "Bastile of a Military Despotism," "limbo!" He calls a Constitutional Democrat who disregards the "forced oath" of allegiance, and boldly carries out his Democracy by recruiting for Jeff Davis and robbing the mails an "oathbreaker!" He'll be calling Jeff Davis a traitor and an oath-breaker yet.

GIVE CREDIT.-Certain papers in San Francisco, which have "departments" devoted to mining information, each week publish a large amount of the article, at least four-fifths of which is taken bodily from this paper, and generally without credit. This is bad enough; but when our items are copied verbatim and credited to some other paper, it is running the thing into the ground. We don't like to mention names, but the papers referred to know whom we mean.

REDUCTION OF WAGES .- There is a report current to the effect that there is an agreement in circulation among the Superintendents of the different mines of this and adjoining districts, to reduce the rate of wages of miners to three dollars and three dollars and a half per day, and to furnish no quartz to mills in which the same reduction of wages is not made. We give this as a floating rumor, not having been able to trace it to any responsible

ALL RIGHT .- We are informed by ecclesiastical authority that the text from Deuteronomy xxxiv. 5, 6, published in our Saturday's issue, and concerning which we made an editorial remark, is considered, by divines, to have got into the Book of Deuteronomy by mistake and that it properly belongs in the Book of Joshua. We reckon that's what's the

the proceedings of the Convention possess any absorbing interest for the mass of the people. Those proceedings as published in those papers which give them in full, occupy daily several columns. When, however, you come to simmer them down to the actual information therein contained, and the business actually performed, the number of potatoes are extremely few in the hill, and the size thereof insignificant. The amount of fame acquired by the delegates, however, is immense. Their perfect mastery of how the thing ought to be done, and their peculiar knack of how not to do it, must be manifested time and wind and room in the papers. We waded through nearly a column of Friday's proceedings to ascertain that they had stricken out of section 20, so much as prohibits special laws regulating the compensation of county and township officers, and in relation to interest on money. In the Homestead section, the value of the exemption was left to the Legislature. In section 33, the provision limiting the compensation of county officers was stricken out. There was a long talk about the Pacific Railroad, but what it all amounted to would be difficult to tell. This occupied three columns when roperly reported, and if full justice was done to the statesmanship and eloquence of the delegates, the whole paper wouldn't terprise, the publication of these reports is highly creditable to the papers, and may prove valuable for future reference as a | $1 it is a terrible bore for us to read, we have not the cheek to fill our columns with it. The old constitution was published in full, and very generally dissemi-

The infamous storm of applause with which the representatives of the people and the press of England greeted the supposed naval victory of the Danes at Heligoland, would furnish a fresh proof, if it were neces-English policy, and has lost all consciousness, not only of the rights of others, but of the interests of Great Britain. England remires Austria in the East, where France is her rival and never will be her ally; England requires Prussia and the German Confederation, for on the day when the three groups of Germany come to an understanding to give Antwerp and Holland to French policy, the position of England as a naval power will receive a greater blow than if Schleswig-Holstein were incorporated with Germany and Kiel gave shelter to a splendid German And what is it makes the English think themselves so sure in this respect it then so impossible that the German Gov-ernments may one day lose all patience, and begin to think whether the friendship of Continental France—which in the end, has a secure peace to offer,—or the friendship of that insular England, who offers Germany, nothing but insult, humiliation, and brutal haughiness and selfishness, be most advantageous Whichever way Germany turns, she sees England allled with her enemies. In the chleswig-Holstein in hand with Russia, Denmark and Sweden; in the Italian question she fraternizes with those who would detach Trieste and South Tyrol from Germany; and how often have uld detach Trieste and South miserable English scribblers threatened us for weeks past that England would certainly make no resistance if Napoleon III. extends the frontier of his empire at the cost of German territory, and trample on German rights, t is sure to meet with the warmest applause and symwathy of both the high and low mob What reason, then, has Ger many, what reason has Austria to have any regard for England? In fact it would be ex usable if a policy were to be adopted, which, at the cost of some sacrifice even, would bri-dle this English arrogance. The Napoleonic policy only waits for the opportunity, which Germany offers it, to show England how little weight she will henceforth have in Europe. Germany will never forget the 9th of May. She will engrave that day on her memthe other. They would have it;

BITTER ON JOHN BULL.-Commenting upon the fact that the Alabama was an English vessel, manned with an English crew, and had nothing American about her except her officers, the Stockton Independent gives John Bull the following cruel wipe: "The truth is, modern Englishmen are, as a mass, not equal to American in anything but egotism; in that they can beat the world. We have overcome them in every equal en-counter by sea or land, in peace or war, and at this very moment American steamers and American merchants are monopolizing the interior trade of China, and driving out British competition from regions which they con-quered for themselves. The vast quantities f beer and beef which they consume make them stupid and slow. An American sailor would shot and fire his gun before an Eng-lishman could get ready to work, and that tardiness of action and mere mechanical routine is probably the reason why the Kear-sarge had the Alabama in a sinking condition sefore she received any damage herself. We advise the rebels when next they float a pirate to man her with a more active sort of cattle. Semmes is no doubt an efficient officer and well up in American naval tactics, but what can an officer do with inferior men Not Proven .- Under the head of "Intensely Loyal," an expression fashionable among Copperheads as a term of contempt and reproach, the Piute responds to (not answers) some remarks of ours, with epithet. It says further:

"We have been a firm, stern Union mannever encouraged or discouraged by the hum-bugging reports of victory or defeats, but placing our entire faith in Ulysses S. Grant, and dry powder, and the right."

To which we, in confidence that the public will agree with us, reply that the columns of the Piute do not substantiate its professions of patriotism.

GOLD PRODUCTION .- M. Chevalier, whose treatise has been translated by Mr. Cobden. says that there was as much gold extracted from the mines of the world within the ten years which followed the year 1848, as during the 366 years preceding—that is to say, dur ing the whole time that America has been known to Europeans. During the three and a half centuries preceding the discovery of the California mines, the whole amount of gold brought to the markets of Christendom was $2,000,000,000,while the annual receipt is now about $205,000,000, from all sources of suphold it. As an abstract question of en- ply. Humboldt estimated that, at the commencement of the present century, all the countries from which Christendom drew its supplies of gold, produced annually about $17,000,000, and M. Chevalier estimates that, of this amount, only about $12,000,000 found part of the history of the country, but as its way into Christendom. In sixty years the annual production has risen to more than $200,000,000, and the annual addition to the stock on hand in Christian States, to nearly $19,000,000. If these estimates are correct, the amount of gold in the States of Europe and America was nearly doubled between the years 1848 and 1858—or allowing a few years for the development of the mines, it would be safe to say, that the quantity of gold now in the Christian world is twice as great as it was when the California mines were discovered in 1848 .- Scientific Press.
